ROBBED

Of $30 Was Judge R. M. Voorhees At Coshocton

One Of The Circuit Judges Of This District

Robbers Captured By The Police Of Coshocton

And The Bond Of Each Fixed At $1,000

Four Men Said To Be Guilty Of The Affair

(Coshocton Times)

Paul Lawrence, Harry Ransom, John Davis and John McClelland, whose residences are unknown, but who are in the city prison charged with picking the pocket of Judge R. M. Voorhees Monday, demanded a preliminary hearing when brought before Mayor Cassingham Tuesday afternoon. Their bonds were fixed at $1,000 each and in default of this amount, they were taken back to jail. The date for their hearings has not yet been fixed, depending largely upon the time that Judges Voorhees and Donahue, the chief witnesses, can be present.

Chief of police Johnson and Clarence Bassett, the W. & L. E. ticket agent had a merry chase after the quartet of men suspected of picking the pocket of Judge Voorhees late Monday afternoon and succeeded in landing all four of the men in the city prison. The suspects accompanied the circus to this city.

The robbery occurred in the vestibule of the parlor car of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, northbound train, which leaves here at 3:05 p. m. Three men had preceded Judge Voorhees into the car and turned and faced him just as he entered the door. As they crowded past him to get off the car, a third man just behind, slipped his hand into the judge's pants pocket and extracted his pocket book, containing over $30.

The trio left the car and one of them was immediately accused by Judge Donahue, who was with Judge Voorhees, as being the one who took the money. Soon after that, Mr. Schulte of the furniture works, saw three men divide some money between each other, as they stood near the sidewalk on Cambridge street.

Mr. Bassett observed two of the men starting out Cambridge street and concluded that they would come down to Kenilworth Ave., and try to return to the show grounds. He called Chief Johnston by phone and started south on the railroad by bicycle to intercept the fellows. He saw them come down Kenilworth and disappear into the Wheeling yards. The chief arrived soon afterwards and arrested the two just as they were entering the show grounds.

The third man who was supposed to have been the recipient of the money, was trailed by Bassett from Gleason's lumber yard, past the Hahn grocery and northward towards Oak Ridge cemetery. In the meantime, Chief Johnston, after taking his two prisoners to the lock-up, returned in an auto and joined in the chase. In an alley near the Horn lumber mill, on N. Eighth, he captured his man. The fourth suspect was caught at the Panhandle station, as he attempted to board train No. 3.

When searched at the station, one man had $104 on his person, another $48, a third $40 and the other $35. There was nothing about their persons to indicate what their names are. None were armed, as pickpockets rarely are.

Judge Voorhees early Tuesday recognized three of the prisoners as the men who had jostled him on the coach.

PAINFULLY

Burned Was Mrs. Drake By Explosion Of Gas

Mrs. Earl Drake sustained painful injuries due to a small gas explosion at her home on South Main street early Wednesday morning. She was busy getting breakfast at the hot plate on which there are two burners, one of which was lighted and the other turned on but not burning. Mrs. Drake leaned over the hot plate to regulate the lighted burner when the gas, escaping from the other, exploded throwing a burst of flame into her face. Her hair and eyebrows were burned badly as well as her forehead, nose, face and neck. Dr. A. T. Fulton was immediately called in attendance.

Mrs. Edward Kilkenney, Sr. met with a very distressing and painful accident while at work at her home on West Chestnut street about nine o'clock Wednesday morning. She was busy taking paper from the wall at the time of the accident and was standing on a step ladder about six feet from the floor when one of the steps on the ladder broke, throwing her forcibly to the floor. Mrs. Kilkenney alighted on her head and arm, breaking her right wrist and cutting a nasty gash on her head. Besides the injuries mentioned, many severe bruises were sustained. Dr. James F. Lee was immediately called to reduce the fracture and to dress the cut on Mrs. Kilkenney's head which required two stitches to close.
